Is the current operation compliant with all wetland and Environmental Protection Agency regulations?  Yes  No

The applicant will need to provide the following documents:

- Brief history of borrower's farming operation and description of project
- Borrower's personal financial statement
- Borrower's federal tax returns from the last 3 years (signed and dated)
- 3 years historical balance sheets and profit and loss statements
- 3 years cash flow projections
- 5 years management, operation and marketing plan
- Summary of written contractual agreement (s) for buying agricultural products, if applicable

- A full-time farmer definition for purpose of the loan program would be determined similar to IRS estimated tax payment criteria that defines a farmer as one whose gross income receipts are two-thirds from farm revenue sources. Income from the spouse not a part of the farming operation would be excluded from the calculation.
- Consideration may be given to applicants not meeting the full-time farmer, definition for a period of five years if they have only initiated farming operations within the previous five years. This would permit a reasonable period of time for first-time farmers to eventually meet the 66 2/3% test for being a full-time farmer.
